David R. MacKay, of E.G. Sawyer Company, Honored with 2015 NECA/ELECTRI International Wendt Award for Exemplary Leadership and Service

Past President and Governor of NECA Boston Chapter Recognized for Contributions to Electrical Industry

“David is a great asset to NECA on so many levels. He has twice served as our Chapter President and Governor with distinction, and has shown tremendous leadership...”

David R. MacKay, of E.G. Sawyer Company, has been recognized for his contributions to the electrical industry. He has served as Chairman of ELECTRI International and as a member of the NECA Executive Committee. MacKay has also served as President of NECA Greater Boston Chapter twice and currently serves on the Boston Chapter Board in 2008, when MacKay was named Vice President of NECA District 1.

NECA Boston Chapter and the Electrical Contractors Association of Greater Boston, Inc. (NECA) have honored MacKay with the 2015 NECA/ELECTRI International Wendt Award for distinguished industry service. The award is presented to individuals who have demonstrated exceptional leadership and dedication to the electrical industry.

In 2014, E.G. Sawyer, the nation's oldest continuously operating electrical contracting firm, celebrated its 100th year of operation and received the NECA 50-year Membership Award for distinguished industry service. Under MacKay's leadership and direction, E.G. Sawyer has experienced steady growth and today is one of the region's leading electrical construction firms with full-service electrical and tel/data capabilities. High-profile projects the company has completed in recent years include the Dana-Farber Yawkey Center for Cancer Care, Education First (EF) Headquarters in Cambridge, and UMASS Boston's Integrated Sciences Complex. In the 1970s and 1980s, MacKay oversaw E.G. Sawyer's electrical construction of such projects as the Century Insurance headquarters project in Concord, MA in a conversion of the former Xavierian Brothers High School, a project that was instrumental in the growth of the firm.

E.G. Sawyer Vice President and COO Joseph McCluskey, Jr., currently Vice President of NECA Boston Chapter, commented on MacKay's commitment to excellence and his integrity, "David's vision and knowledge have been keys to the success of E.G. Sawyer over the past 50 years. Personally, David has been a true mentor to me, and was very instrumental in building my interest and involvement in NECA. Through his service, and now my own, I've come to understand firsthand the importance the organization has in furthering the electrical industry – from continuing education, management, and safety perspectives." McCluskey, who is scheduled to become NECA Boston's President in January 2016, took MacKay's place on the NECA Board in 2008, when MacKay was named Vice President of NECA District 1.
