PROJECT SPOTLIGHT

NECA 2014 Convention in Chicago, September 27 – 30

NECA 2014, the electrical construction industry’s largest convention and trade show, will be held in Chicago, Illinois at McCormick Place, September 27 to 30. The event is expected to draw more than 5,000 industry professionals as more than 300 leading manufacturers and distributors showcase the latest innovations in power distribution, building automation and controls, lighting and controls, solar energy/PV, fire alarms/safety, testing equipment, and much more. In addition, technical workshops and management seminars will cover issues and topics that keep NECA contractors the best informed in the industry, including: National Electrical Code 2014 Updates, NFPA 70E Best Practices, BIM Implementation, Lean Construction, Energy Conservation and Performance, and Higher Productivity with Prefabrication, to name just a few. Learn more and register at www.neaconvention.org

NECA Boston Workshop, August 18 & 19 – Maximizing Productivity Utilizing Best-in-Class Prefabrication

The workshops will be conducted by nationally recognized construction industry consultant and speaker, Michael McLin, Managing Director of Maxim Consulting Group. He will present best practices being deployed in the construction industry, the importance of product standardization, linking estimating to detailing to prefabrication to field installation, and logistics and inventory management ideas to further enhance cost reductions.
